

THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION.

MONDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Washington, Dec. 15.

Senate.—Mr. Hadan's case was referred to committee on judiciary.

The bill to settle the claims of revolutionary officers was discussed.

On motion of Mr. Jones, of Iowa, the committee of commerce were directed to inquire into the expediency of making a further appropriation of $30,000 for the enlargement of the custom house, post-office, &c., at Dubuque.

On motion of Mr. Jones, of Iowa, the credentials of Mr. James Harlan, Senator from Iowa, with the protest of the Senate of Iowa, in relation thereto, were taken up for consideration.

Mr. Harlan proceeded to speak on the subject, stating the facts with reference to his section, citing provisions in the U. S. constitution and the laws of Iowa bearing on the case.

House.—Mr. Etheridge submitted the following resolution, which was read for the information of the members—

Resolved, That this House regard all suggestions or proposition of every kind by whomsoever made, for the revival of the African slave trade, as shocking to the moral sentiment of the enlightened portion of mankind, or any act on the part of Congress legislating or conniving at or legalizing that horrid and inhuman traffic, would justly subject the United States to the reproach of all civilized and christian people throughout the world.

Objection was made to the introduction of the resolution.

Mr. Etheridge moved a suspension of the rules.

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. Walker asked whether, if the House shall suspend the rules, it was the purpose of Mr. Etheridge to move the previous question on the adoption of the resolution to cut off debate?

Mr. Etheridge replied that the resolution contained a self-evident proposition. He presumed every gentleman had an opinion on the subject. He should not discuss it, but would move the previous question.

Mr. Jones, of Tenn., wanted Mr. Etheridge to leave out the argument, in the resolution, and said he was much opposed to the reopening of the African slave trade as his colleague.

Mr. Jones was here called to order, the Speaker saying that debate was inadmissible at this time.

Mr. Jones said he would not be gagged by either the Speaker or others.

Mr. Orr strove ineffectually to introduce a substitute.

FURTHER FROM NICARAGUA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.

The steamship Tennessee arrived this morning from Nicaragua. The accounts brought by her state that Walker's movements are the same as those telegraphed from Charleston, on Saturday.

We have no papers, and our intelligence is furnished by the purser of the steamer. He states that General Walker had fought several successful battles since the departure of the last steamer. He had, however, on account of the sickness prevailing at Granada, found it necessary to evacuate and burn that city, having first removed the sick and wounded to Onetepet. He was at Virgin Bay awaiting the arrival of reinforcements, when he would attack Rivas.

The naval engagement, heretofore reported, took place in the harbor of San Juan, between the Nicaraguan steamer Granada, of two six pounders and 28 men, and a Costa Rican brig, with six nine pounders and 114 men. The latter was blown up. Forty of her crew were rescued by the Granada. The brig had aboard a large supply of stores, ammunition, and specie for the allied army.

WASHINGTON NEWS AND GOSSIP.

Correspondence of the Eastern Papers.—Bigler's Speech.—Donaldson's Successor.—Gov. Hamilton, etc.

From the New York Courier and Enquirer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9, 1856.

Mr. Buchanan's next friend in the Senate, Gov. Bigler, made an important speech, and one which is already denominated as free-soil by Southern Democrats. The Governor admitted the fact that the Pennsylvania Democracy were in favor of making Kansas a free State; that was their position. He would vote that way himself if he were there. But the Democracy were a constitutional party, and would proceed upon the principles of the Kansas Nebraska bill. He did not seek to obscure the inference that Mr. Buchanan was of the same mind.—This speech is regarded as the protest of the President elect against the Richmond cabal and the South Carolina school of politicians, and has caused a sensation of which we shall not soon hear the last.

Mr. Douglas will return from his marriage tour on Wednesday, and will probably take early occasion to repudiate the new Buchanan and Bigler platform.

From the New York Times.

Senator Bigler's speech of yesterday is kicking up quite a bobby among the Southern supporters of Mr. Buchanan—not because of any special value of the speech itself, but because it is supposed to foreshadow the policy of the President elect on the slavery question.

The speech was essentially free-soilish. The Senator declared that if he was himself a citizen of Kansas, he would vote against the introduction of slavery there, and gave us to understand that Mr. Buchanan would pursue the same course; and that under the influence which will be paramount in the early future, Kansas is certain to become a Free State.

Southern Senators looked aghast when such expressions as these fell from the lips of the speaker; and the more they think of it, the more they don't like it, and the more they suspect that in electing Mr. Buchanan they have caught a Tartar. So let it be.—Mr. Bigler was dumbfounded week when the present debate commenced; but the Electoral Colleges have made up their record now, and the Senator's tongue can wag fearlessly and free.

James O. Harrison, appointed Judge in Kansas, vice Leconte, is a distinguished lawyer of Lexington, Ky., who ran on the Democratic ticket for Congress against A. K. Marshall.

Pay the Printer.

Come you sinful debtor, in whose breast Some conscience may revolve, Come with your guilty fear oppressed And make this wise resolve.

I'll seek the Printer, though my debts Have like a mountain rose; I know his wants, I'll pay him off, Whatever may oppose.

Perhaps he may take my excuse, Perhaps believe I lie— But if I perish I will pay, And then his thoughts defy.

Straightway I'll to his sanctum go, And see him face to face; I'll boldly fork the tin that's due, And thank him for his grace.

Although ashamed thus late I go, I am resolved to try, For if I stay away I know In great disgrace I'll die.

I know his patient nature well— Delinquent he'll forgive He'll kindly pardon debtors' sins, And bid such penitents live.

Dan Brigham, the am-prototypist, will remove from Cynthiana, after the holidays.

CHARACTERISTIC.—Among the banners borne in the triumphal procession of the Democrats at Washington, on Thursday of last week, was one bearing the following inscription: "Sumner and Kansas—Let 'em bleed."

The Pierce administration has removed Judge Leconte, the chief justice of Kansas territory, and has appointed James O. Harrison, Esq., of Lexington, Ky., to fill his place. Our readers will remember that Mr. Harrison was the defeated candidate for congress, against Hon. A. K. Marshall, in this district. We copy the following with reference to this gentleman, from the Lexington Observer and Reporter:

"Mr. Harrison is a Democrat; but while maintaining his principles firmly, has ever been courteous and respectful to his opponents, and he enjoys, to-day, as much of the personal respect and esteem of those in our midst who are politically opposed to him, as any man of his party." We have felt it to be our duty, as it is our pleasure, to say thus much in regard to our fellow townsman upon the occasion of this distinguished mark of the confidence of the Federal administration—less, in justice to him, and ourselves, we could not say. He carries with him our most sincere wishes for his future happiness and prosperity.

Anecdote of Napoleon. I.

Napoleon was accustomed to wear a coat of mail under his clothes, and which he rarely went without. On his departure from Belgium, he thought it best to guard against these dangers with which he was then threatened, having all Europe leagued against him, by every means in his power. He accordingly sent for a clever workman, and asked if he thought himself competent to make a coat of mail of such a texture that no weapon whatever could penetrate. On the artificer answering in the affirmative, Napoleon agreed to pay him 18,000 francs, the sum he asked. On the day fixed the man brought his work to the palace. Napoleon quickly examined it, and told the workman to put on himself. The man obeyed.—Napoleon took two pistols, saying, "We shall now see whether this coat of mail is of the texture you promised me." He fired at his breast first—the cuirass resisted. "Turn round." The man obeyed. The second ball struck his back with the same result. The poor artificer, half dead with fright, thought these trials would be sufficient, but he was mistaken in his calculation. Bonaparte armed himself with a long fowling-piece, and made the same experiment on the shoulders, back and breast of the trembling patient. Happily the cuirass resisted, and saved the inventor from so cruel a trial. "How much am I to pay you?" said Napoleon after this noble exploit. "Eighteen thousand francs," stammered the affrighted artificer. "No such thing sir," said Napoleon, "I shall give you thirty-six thousand francs," and gave an order on his treasurer for that amount.

Some men are wise, and some other wise.

Cosmopolitan Art Association.

THIRD YEAR.

The management of this popular Institution announce with pleasure that they have completed arrangements for the third year, on the most extensive scale and with many new features.

They are doing their utmost to encourage American genius. The extensive collection of works of art to be distributed this year consists of beautiful statues, busts, medals, medallions, and oil paintings, all in the highest style of art, numbering many hundreds. In connection with the Institution, the managers are publishing an Illustrated Art Journal, which every subscriber receives gratis. They also distribute this year a fine steel engraving, entitled "Saturday Night," which any subscriber may take in place of his magazine. The engraving is a beautiful work of art, and is a rare and valuable addition to the collection. It is a fine example of the skill and talent of our countrymen, and is a fitting tribute to the progress of our art.

Harper's, Graham's, Knickerbocker, Putnam's, Godey's, Blackwood's, Southern Literary Messenger, U. S. Magazine, Mrs. Stephen's New Monthly, the British Quarterly, and Littell's Living Age ($8) with two memberships. Those taking five memberships, are entitled to six engravings or any five of the Magazines and six tickets in the general distribution which will take place in January, 1857.

A CHANCE FOR A GOOD

INVESTMENT.

INTENDING to remove to Missouri, where every other member of my family is located, will sell my Steam Saw, Corn and Lath Mill at Berry's to which with comparatively little mill the Distiller and Flouring business may be added. The machinery is all in excellent order, and with one saw, five or six thousand feet of inch boards can be easily sawed in ten hours, and the boiler which, never used before this year, is large and new, and is capable of generating steam, by the use of part only of the saw dust and slabs sufficient to saw lumber and mash one or two hundred bush per day. Who have thought of the matter, pronounce it one of the best interior locations for depressed business, its advantages consist in its location, being in a high and dry bog district, free of competition, for evidence examine the mill, and you will find it to be a most desirable investment. The mill is situated on the bank of South Licking, which affords a constant and plentiful supply of river water, the very best for distilling in proof of which, look to the high reputation for ameliorating qualities of Keller's whisky. It is located on the Cov. & Lex R. R., at Berry's Station, whence without hauling or other charges the establishment can forward daily, its whisky, Flour and mash to the great market for Northern Kentucky products, and the next day get return of proceeds.

I will sell this property for less than its value and if the sale is immediately consummated, the timber for building good pens can be hauled while the roads are hard, and mechanics employed to complete all by 1st of January. When my contract for sawing will terminate, I will deliver up the property.

Terms: One third in hand, of 6 mo. note, bal in 1 and 2 years, interest 6 per cent.
